

Word Portfolio Project Newsletter

Problem: Your principal has decided that each teacher will develop a monthly class newsletter that will be printed, distributed to the students, and posted to the school's website. This newsletter will help to keep parents/guardians informed about your class projects and deadlines, special events, and school holidays. It could also direct parents/guardians to websites or toll free numbers for help with homework. The newsletter could also include student reports, student artwork, and/or announcements. You plan to develop the newsletter format one time and update/revise it each month. The newsletter will have a header/banner and two balanced columns. Be creative!

Instructions:

1. Reset your documents margins to .7 left, right, top, and bottom.
  2. Single space the body of the newsletter with double spacing after each individual "article."
  3. Create a header/banner for your class' January 2008 newsletter. The header/banner should display across the entire top of the page. The header/banner should include the name of the newsletter, the name of the class it represents, the name of the school, the date of publication, and the volume/issue number. Of course, this will be volume 1/issue 1. Include any additional information you feel is important. Insert a continuous section break after the header/banner. (Hit enter to move beneath the header/banner. Click on Insert; Break; Continuous Section Break; and OK.)
  4. Format your one page newsletter in two balanced columns of equal width with spacing between columns set at .5" (default). Click on Format; Columns; Two; and OK.
  5. Article text should be no smaller than 12 point and no larger than 14 point. Be careful to select "article" font that is easy to read.
  6. All "article" titles should be consistent in font style, size, and type but they can be different from the article text size, style, and type. For example: Comic Sans; bold; 14 point.
  7. Decide on a class project that could be completed in the area you will be teaching. For example, the art class might be preparing for a show of students' sculptures, or the history class could be making family trees for display. Elementary students might be preparing for a read-a-thon. Special education teachers might be preparing for Special Olympics. Include information about this special class project in your newsletter. Include a graphic, if appropriate. This one project or assignment should not dominate the newsletter—it is an element or item that is included. (See step 8).
  8. Be sure to provide (See step 7 and the grading rubric):
    - a. Description of the class project or assignment
    - b. Necessary information concerning what is expected of the student to complete the class project or assignment
    - c. The project due date
    - d. If parents/guardians are invited to see an exhibit of the class project or assignment, or if there will be a public display of the class project, provide the necessary information (date, time, place)
    - e. Other essential details as needed
- REMEMBER: THIS CLASS PROJECT ARTICLE IS ONLY ONE ELEMENT OF THE NEWSLETTER!!!!
9. Add at least two graphics that are appropriate for the "articles" within the newsletter. Use similar style graphics and be careful not to distort when resizing. Place the graphics so that text will flow around the graphics (top, bottom, left, and right). Refer to the file named Text Wrapping Around a Graphic behind the Handouts and Exhibits tab in your portfolio.
  10. PROOFREAD!! Review the grading rubric for this assignment.
  11. Save as First name Last name Class Newsletter in your personal folder or on/in your storage device.
  12. Print the newsletter, staple the rubric on top, and place both in the "Submit Basket" for grading.
