

Chapter Objectives

After studying this chapter, the student will be able to

- Identify key components of supportive classroom facilities and describe their impact on the teaching and learning process
- Identify the steps in instructional design and describe how design impacts instruction
- Write performance objectives and explain their role in targeting learning outcomes
- Describe the steps in the instructional design process and the pedagogical cycle incorporated therein
- Prepare a fully articulated lesson plan
- Describe the components of an instructional action plan and explain its role in the teaching and learning process
- Explain the role of planning in the selection and implementation of instructional technology